'The Architecture in Detail series is without question one of the most beautifully illustrated and well-documented collections of monographs on individual buildings produced anywhere in the World.'

Edward R Bosley is Director of the Gamble House. He holds a degree in the History of Art from the University of California at Berkeley, where he studied the work of the Greene brothers first-hand, living for several years in one of their classic, high-period commissions, the W R Thorsen House (1909), a former private residence which now houses students. He is also the author of the definitive monograph Greene and Greene, also published by Phaidon.

The images remind me of my visit to this place. It's a beautiful house with many thoughtful and surprising features. I bought this as a gift for someone who is building a craftsman-style house, as a style reference. I wish it had more images and larger, more color, images, but it's a good reference.

The book provides good details on the house and a little bit about the furniture. I wish it had more color pictures and more about the furniture.

This book was a gift to others. They are neighbors to the Gamble House in Pasadena and find it a very thoughtful and well put together book and added to their knowledge of this house. The book is represented as "hard cover" but in reality is not, thus one star off.

Great details about fine craftsmanship...

The book is a great source of photos of the vocabulary of Greene and Greene. The only reservation I had with this purchase is that the vendor had a price written in the book that was significantly less than the price and/or the outside vendor charged.
