

The book was found

Fighting Poverty In The US And Europe: A World Of Difference (The Rodolfo De Benedetti Lecture Series)

Synopsis

In this timely study of the different approaches of America and Europe to the problems of domestic inequality and poverty, the authors describe just how different the two continents are in the level of State engagement in the redistribution of income. They discuss various possible economic explanations for the difference, including different levels of pre-tax income, openness, and social mobility; they survey politico-historical differences such as the varying physical size of nations, their electoral and legal systems, and the character of their political parties, as well as their experiences of war; and they examine sociological explanations which include different attitudes to the poor and notions of social responsibility, as well as, most importantly, attitudes to race.

Book Information

Series: The Rodolfo De Benedetti Lecture Series

Paperback: 264 pages

Publisher: Oxford University Press (January 12, 2006)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0199286108

ISBN-13: 978-0199286102

Product Dimensions: 8.4 x 0.5 x 5.4 inches

Shipping Weight: 13.9 ounces

Average Customer Review: 4.5 out of 5 stars 4 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #109,287 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #22 in Books > Business & Money > Economics > Comparative #149 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Politics & Government > Public Affairs & Policy > Social Policy #167 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Social Sciences > Poverty

Customer Reviews

"Mr. Alesina and Mr. Glaeser, both Harvard economists, are doing what the best in their profession do well these days: seeking to explain society not merely with conventional economic tools but with analysis of institutions, geography and social behaviour."--The Economist"An important contribution to this enduring debate"--Region Focus"This probing of the forces behind 'American exceptionalism', as measured by a much smaller welfare state than in Europe, is immensely important. The authors take a multi-discipline approach and consider many factors, including narrowly economic variables, political institutions, racial and ethnic diversity, the effects of wars, attitudes toward the poor, and still others. Their findings are sometimes surprising and frequently provocative. This monograph will quickly become the foundation of further literature on a subject of enormous significance."--Gary S. Becker, Nobel Prize Laureate

"In what ways, and why, are the United States and Europe so far apart in social policy? Alesina and Glaeser give us as definitive an answer to this fundamental question as we shall ever see."-George A. Akerlof, Nobel Prize Laureate Alberto Alesina is Nathaniel Ropes Professor of Political Economy and currently Chairman of the Department of Economics at Harvard University, and has been Visiting Professor at IGER-Bocconi and MIT. He is a Research Associate for the National Bureau of Economic Research and for the Centre for Economic Policy Research. He is Co-editor of the Quarterly Journal of Economics, and in addition to his many books and papers he has published columns in the Financial Times, the Wall Street Journal Europe, Le Monde, Il Sole 24 Ore, La Stampa, Frankfurter Zeitung, and Handelsblatt, and many other newspapers nationwide. Edward L. Glaeser is a Professor of Economics at Harvard University, where he has taught since 1992. He teaches urban and social economics and microeconomic theory, and has published dozens of papers on cities, economic growth, and law and economics. He is a Faculty Research Fellow for the National Bureau of Economic Research, and has also been a consultant for numerous international institutions.

Good readings on how to combat poverty in America.

fast delivery and it came perfectly for my class

I used this book for two courses as a freshman at Princeton University. One of them was a seminar on politics of economic inequality, the other one - an introductory comparative politics course. This book provides a good introduction to explaining political outcomes in terms of socio-economic interests (as opposed to just culture or institutional arrangements). The argument of the book is fairly interesting and well-developed: the size of the welfare state depends highly on racial fractionalization of the population and political institutions (federalism, checks and balances, winner-take-all electoral system) which are the result of a historical interplay of socio-economic interests. The discussion of the historical context (e.g. the "entrepreneurial" use of racial hatred to fight against redistributive policies) and possible counterarguments are both well done. Furthermore, this book debunks some myths such as the notion that upward social mobility is higher in the US than in Europe. However, it is not without its problems. It gets fairly dry and repetitive sometimes. The arguments themselves are not flawless either. Alesina and Glaeser imply that the reason for the large welfare state in Western Europe is the strength of the left and the labor movement, while in reality the welfare state in Western Europe was largely built by right-wing parties (the Conservatives in the UK, Gaullists in France and Christian Democrats in Germany). The attempt to argue in terms of "the right" and "the left" often backfires, too, since it is not always possible to clearly draw the line. Nevertheless, this is a solid and thought-provoking book.

Absolutely fascinating, very thorough discussion of the reasons why the US and Europe have such different approaches to social welfare policy. The presentation is systematic and extremely detailed, with data to support every point and reject competing hypotheses. It is compact and easy to read, though the writing style is a bit dry. I found the book very very useful, and I haven't encountered anything else that fills this intellectual niche so well.

Download to continue reading...

Fighting Poverty in the US and Europe: A World of Difference (The Rodolfo De Benedetti Lecture Series) Changing Poverty, Changing Policies (Institute for Research on Poverty Series on Poverty and Public Policy) Fighting Poverty Together: Rethinking Strategies for Business, Governments, and Civil Society to Reduce Poverty Lecture Ready Student Book 2, Second Edition (Lecture Ready Second Edition 2) Bono: Fighting World Hunger and Poverty (Celebrity Activists) The Stormrider Guide Europe Boxed Set - includes Stormrider Guide Europe: The Continent and Stormrider Guide Europe: Atlantic Islands (English and French Edition) Spiritual Activation: Why Each of Us Does Make the Difference (Why Each of Us Does Makes the Difference) Prague: Prague Travel Guide: 101 Coolest Things to Do in Prague, Czech Republic (Prague Travel, Travel to Prague, Travel Eastern Europe, Europe Travel, Backpacking Europe, Czech Republic Travel) Prague: Prague Travel Guide: 101 Coolest Things to Do in Prague (Prague Travel, Travel to Prague, Travel Eastern Europe, Europe Travel, Backpacking Europe, Czech Republic Travel) No Holds Barred Fighting: The Kicking Bible: Strikes for MMA and the Street (No Holds Barred Fighting series) Martial & Fighting Arts (Martial and Fighting Arts Series) Sigmund Ringeck's Knightly Arts Of Combat: Sword and Buckler Fighting, Wrestling, and Fighting in Armor Ground Fighting Techniques to Destroy Your Enemy: Mixed Martial Arts, Brazilian Jiu Jitsu and Street Fighting Grappling Techniques and Strategy (Self-Defense Book 3) Fight for the Forgotten: How a Mixed Martial Artist Stopped Fighting for Himself and Started Fighting for Others Provincializing Europe: Postcolonial Thought and Historical Difference (Princeton Studies in Culture/Power/History) NATO in Afghanistan: Fighting Together, Fighting Alone Around The Globe - Must See Places in Europe: Europe Travel Guide for Kids (Children's Explore the World Books) Problems of Democratic Transition and Consolidation:

Southern Europe, South America, and Post-Communist Europe Colonial Memory and Postcolonial Europe: Maltese Settlers in Algeria and France (New Anthropologies of Europe) Frommer's Gay and Lesbian Europe: The Top Cities & Resorts (Frommer's Gay & Lesbian Europe)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help