These are very handy for quick reference and look great. My only complaint is really my own fault, I didn't fully read the directions first. A few pieces of advice: 1. Look at all of the labels first before you start putting them on. The first three sheets list the books you'd expect, so naturally I just started with sheet one. However, sheet four has a lot of "special" tags, like "Old Testament", "New Testament", "Special", etc. So for example, if you want a tab at the beginning of the New Testament that doesn't overlap Matthew, you'd have to plan ahead to put that tab first, before you put the tab for Matthew. In other words, look at all the tabs before you put any of them on, so you have a "plan" and it turns out right. 2. These come with an alignment sheet. Hint - align the top of the tab with the top arrow. My mistake was that I tried to "center" the tab. Since I eyeballed the whole thing, my tabs are sort of all over the place. If you align the top of the tab with the top arrow in the alignment sheet, it'll come out a lot more uniform. 3. Pay attention as you put them on. I was trying to hold a conversation at the same time I was putting these on, and didn't realize I put two tabs in the same position at first. Got about 10 tabs into it before I noticed my mistake. It is possible to remove the tab once it's on, just take it slow and carefully. But better not to have to in the first place. Note - there are no tabs for the Apocrypha. I labeled mine with the "Special" tab, but you won't be able to label each individual book.

I bought these to put into a gift Bible. The tabs are beautiful, and the silver edge perfect for blue toned Bibles. They do take a while to do well... it took me an hour and a half to get all the tabs placed properly, but I'm a little anal-retentive and made extra sure everything was lined up just right.

They do come with a tab template, but I preferred to set them up in my own spacing. Once you get the first 8 tabs, lining up the rest is fairly simple. You just need to be very careful to only have one Bible page, not two - most are so thin, it is very easy to put the tabs onto two pages without knowing it. Excellent product. Great quality.

Really amazing beautiful tabs. The ruler guide tool is so simple and easy to use. It really helps making a difference because it serves as a guideline to properly align the tabs so you can find the Books faster and all are easily visible. My 1 tip would be to peel the paper from the clear side because if you peel from the actual label part with the name you can accidentally rip off the label. So yeah peel from the clear side it's so easy and make sharp creases! Best bible tabs. So happy :)

These are the coolest things! I always wanted to try them. Just be careful that you have attached them to only one page as it is easy to do the foldover onto multiple pages with the onion skin quality of the Bible pages.

I always get this brand. I love the ruler to follow & measure. Very easy to do. Just don't be in a hurry & pay attention. I barely tap on till I see it is on the correct line. If by chance you make a mistake it might be possible to gently undo. I got away with a few of those boo boos. I use a pencil & make a faint line then line up the tab clear part to the pencil line & tab line to the page edge. It helps to have your page held up clear of the book. Some of the commits had videos attached, made it easy to see how to put on the tabs.

Came on time and as expected, very easy to use. They hold up pretty well with time even if you do a lot of finger flipping through pages. I misplaced a couple of them on different pages and was able to remove them without tearing the page (I removed them shortly after placing them). This pack comes with your own 'life verse' tab, I however did not use it. This is my 3rd pack of tabs from this brand and I have to say, all in all, a good product! I haven't had any problems so far and I'll likely be buying again (when I get another Bible).

I purchased these for my husband's Bible and he loves them. He took about 45 minutes to an hour to apply them to his bible. Unfortunately, he did not read the instructions so he's unable to actually see the Genesis tab until he's opened up to that page. Please review the instructions first. They're simple, yet crucial.

I spent over 30 mins trying to get them off of the paper so I could put it on my Bible. I ended up throwing them out! One side would release but the other one wouldn't....what a mess.
